

FORMWORK DESIGN AND SAFETY WITH CODE OF PRACTICE SS580:2020 (Virtual Classroom)

** Supported by UTAP ****

IES Academy Virtual
Classroom

Introduction

Formwork structures have always been a highly hazardous item in the construction industry. Continuing failures of formworks in Singapore had raised considerable alarm in the industry, the government and the public.

To address these concerns, and to update an outdated Code of Practice for formwork, a Workgroup was formed in 2012 to develop a new Code of Practice, SS580.

Objectives

This one-day course on formwork design and safety to revised standards and EuroCode aims to accomplish the following:

- Provide background material to and useful information on improved standards in this area for this critical topic in workplace safety;
- Present the basics of safe design of formwork structures and essential design requirements of SS580;
- Describe significant parts of the new Code of Practice for Formwork SS580:2020 to facilitate its use by designers and constructors;
- Review a number of failure of formworks in Singapore and abroad for an understanding of causes;
- Discuss techniques to identify and evaluate the hazards, and manage the risks; and,
- Offer practical guidelines for good practice in formwork design, erection, use, dismantling, inspection, and supervision.

The focus will be on basic concepts and procedures currently in use for formwork in the construction industry. Objectives will include identification of principal contributory factors to formwork failures and their underlying root causes, and discussing how the new Code can eliminate or alleviate the problems.

Course Outline

The course will be useful to engineers, developers, builders, contractors, and occupational health and safety professionals who wish to learn or review the design and safety considerations of formwork structures (often simply referred to as 'formwork') – which would cover both the actual formwork to receive the wet concrete and its supporting falsework.

It will be useful to fresh engineering graduates as an introduction to the real world of formwork safety and design implementation in the workplace. Management cadre may also do well to understand the implications of formwork design and safety, because it may help in reducing the consequent costs of accidents and other losses to the company and improve the safety culture in their organizations.

Day	Sessio n	Hours	Topic	Focus
1	1	9.00 – 10.45 am	Formwork structures, types & characteristics Structural behaviour of formwork structures Generic design example of formwork structure	Structural  (3 Hours)
	2a	(Break 10.45-11 am) 11.00 am – 12.15 pm	Structural aspects of SS580:2020 Design according to SS580:2020
